

Chesterfield has a quiet food revolution happening - with award winning restaurants that are attracting national media recognition, and independent coffee shops and pubs with a belief in local produce. There's plenty of choice in Chesterfield when it comes to eating out. Chesterfield is home to a number of independently owned restaurants which are proud to serve fresh, locally sourced food. There's also a variety of cuisines for you to try - from traditional Sunday roasts, to authentic Japanese food. Chatsworth Road offers a fantastic selection of eateries, from Italian Nonna's to French themed Mes Amis. In the town centre, the Soulville Steakhouse and Coco Bar Bistro offer varied menus. For a unique dining experience, why not try Buckinghams, known as 'the restaurant with one table,' where chefs will create one-off meals to suit your individual tastes.

This gourmet short break has been crafted with those in mind who really appreciate quality and varied cuisine.

Thursday 28th August - Maison Mes Amis!

Maison Mes Amis is a beautiful French themed bar and restaurant on Chatsworth Road in Chesterfield. "I want to create a version of home" says Marcella Kirk, proprietor "Mes Amis (Marcella's old Coffee Shop) was styled around a lounge, dining room and kitchen. Maison Mes Amis will be just the same but with the addition of a bar in the lounge and an outside courtyard off the dining room. The kitchen is in two sections, behind the scenes is a typical industrial area together with an open rustic area, more like your kitchen at home, where you'll be able to see your food being prepared." Maison Mes Amis will be serving food all day, and a full evening menu from Wednesday through to Saturday. The bar will be open for cocktails, fine wine and a selection of continental beers. "It's definitely not just about the evening menu" emphasis Marcella "we're still the same team, serving the same great coffee or tea, scones and cakes all day - and our signature Croque Monsieur's. But we now have a bar and will be open into the evening for evening meals - a grown up Mes Amis."
